Part 1: Reading Comprehension (10 Marks)

Read the text carefully and then answer the questions below:

IS YOUR HOME SUITABLE FOR ME?

I'm Dalia and I've always used a wheelchair. I live in a flat which makes it easy for me to do most things that able people can do. But many buildings are not the same. It is easy to forget how small changes can make a big difference to people like me. So first of all, think about your school, the local shops and all the other buildings you use every week. Answer these simple questions:

- Can a wheelchair user enter the building without going up steps?
- Is the building on more than one floor?
- If yes, can wheelchair users access the upper floors?
- Are there wide spaces in each room for wheelchair users to move around easily?
- Are there shelves or devices which are high up so wheelchair users can't reach them?
- Can a wheelchair easily go into toilets and do they have sinks which are low enough to reach?

If three to six answers are 'No', then it makes it very difficult for people like me to use this building.

These days people often cook and eat in - this saves some money and people can also choose what ingredients they use for their meals. But here are some interesting places around the world to eat out and taste great food. They aren't expensive and you can help a few people at the same time.

At Majeda's Restaurant in Amman, healthy hot meals are given to people who cannot afford to eat well every week. Customers who use the restaurant are invited to have a delicious meal using local ingredients and, at the same time, help to buy a meal for someone in need. After they have done this, small meal invitations are put on a board by the entrance to the shop. Volunteers then help out by distributing around 100 free meals a week to people who need them.

A home is a place where someone lives and feels comfortable, which could be a house, a flat or even a boat! But a house is always a building. A modern house in towns and cities is a building with four walls and a roof above it, usually in a street with lots of other houses around it. In most houses there are rooms for different activities. So, people can eat in the kitchen, sleep in the bedrooms, wash in the bathroom and relax in the living room.

My favourite room is my bedroom. It has all my stuff in it and I love it. My dad loves reading in the comfortable armchair in the living room. My younger brother spends a lot of time in the big garden - he loves playing there with his friends! My older sister is away at university, so her bedroom is the room for ironing. And my mum can cook really well, so she's usually in the kitchen.

2- Which room is the writer's favourite and why?
